

Frilot earns Waveland Democratic bid

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Nearly two decades of leadership by Waveland Mayor John Longo was halted Tuesday night with the Democratic nomination won by Ward 4 Alderman Stella Frilot.

Frilot polled 880 votes to Longo's 774. Anticipation filled the voting room of the Waveland library as Beverly Zimmerman, chairman for the Democratic Executive Committee, wrote the numbers on the tally sheet.

Wards 1 and 2 totals came in first, giving the incumbent Mayor a 60-vote lead.

Ward 4 was next to be counted, giving Frilot with a 43-vote lead.

More than 100 people crowded closer to the front tables to hear the final tally of Ward 3 votes posted.

Screams of supporters were heard throughout the room as the unofficial counts gave Frilot a 106-vote lead.

Frilot will face Republican John Mason December 4 in the general election.

Longo, a five-term office holder, was not present at the Tuesday night count.

Attempts to reach him by telephone Wednesday were unsuccessful.

Frilot, surrounded by supporters, kept calling out "You did it, not me."

She was presented with a bouquet of roses and said, "I'm in a state of ecstatic bewilderment."

Saying Mayor Longo was a formidable candidate, she said she would take a little time to regroup, and center her attention on the upcoming general election, one day at a time.

Ruhr takes Ward 1 primary in Waveland

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

William H. Ruhr defeated Jeanne Garcia by 25 votes to become Waveland's Ward 1 alderman.

The Ward 1 count was the first to be written on the tally sheet Tuesday night, showing Ruhr with 174 votes to Garcia's 149. Ruhr calmly sat along the front line of spectators as the unofficial totals were read out, revealing his victory.

Garcia waited outside the library with a small group of supporters as her daughter observed the counting procedures indoors. Ward 1 was reported to have had 344 voters that day, of which 323 made an alderman choice.

Following the victory Ruhr said, "I thank everybody who voted for me and I'm looking forward to the general election."

Garcia, upon hearing the news of her loss said, "I had a lot of good people helping me. I met a lot of good people throughout the campaign."

"I wish all the winners good luck, and I'll be back in four years."

Ruhr now advances to the December 4 general election, where he will face Independent incumbent Barbara Rappold.

Train, car collide

Three Bay St. Louis youths were shaken, but not seriously injured, when a 107-car train hit the front of the maroon Oldsmobile they were driving at about 7:30 Tuesday night. Driver Shannon Monti said a train had just passed and the car in front of hers had crossed the tracks at Webb Street, when she started across without seeing the second train. She, Kenny Monti and Nick Kleinpeter were taken to Hancock Medical Center, where they were examined and released. The only injury reported was a broken tooth. (Echo staff photo by Tony Monti)

No new election for Waveland

Democratic Executive Committee finds no evidence of fraud

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Waveland's Nov. 6 election results stand.

"Neither one of the complainants showed proof of fraud...this contest is dismissed," said Beverly Zimmerman, chairman for the Waveland Democratic Executive Committee.

Concluding the Monday hearing, Zimmerman added, "This election was run to the best of my ability...legally and morally...the results stand."

Attorney Nelson Taylor, representing Ward 3 petitioner Clarence Harris, ended an intense three hours of interrogation into the events of Nov. 6 by saying, "We will see you in court."

Taylor, Harris and supporters left before the completion of the hearing.

The committee investigation was in response to petitions by alderman candidates Jay Fleuriet and Harris. Allegations of loose ballot handling, ward voting denial and lack of secrecy in the voting place were not substantiated to the satisfaction of the committee.

Mayoral candidate, Russell Caldwell did speak up concerning voting privacy saying, "I could see over people's shoulders."

After leaving City Hall, Taylor, answering why he did not present witnesses said, "We have some witnesses, but with that kind of attitude...not knowing how many ballots there are...this is a useless process."

Prior to Taylor's exit from the hearing, committee member Milton Bernard refused to allow Taylor to question him saying, "I want to remind you Mr. Taylor, that we are here to investigate, not you."

Bernard added if Taylor wished to question him repeatedly, as he had Zimmerman, he would have to put him "on a real witness stand."

Attorney Lucien Gex, sitting in as a non-paid legal consultant at Zimmerman's request, continuously asked Taylor to bring forth proof of his allegations.

Taylor, in turn, questioned Gex's presence at the hearing—suggesting a conflict of interest as he is city attorney for Waveland. Gex denied any such

Council eyes Blue Meadow Rd. for proposed recreation center

BY TRACI BONNEY

Plans to construct a youth center are moving—slowly, but they are moving.

The Bay St. Louis City Council authorized council attorney John Scafide Tuesday to proceed with the necessary work to acquire approximately 9½ acres of land on Blue Meadow Road for a youth and recreation center. Scafide told the board he did not expect any contesting of the city's petition of eminent domain for the land.

The land currently is assessed to the city school district. Scafide said the land was incorrectly assessed to the district in 1965 and the problem never was rectified.

Furthermore, he added, he has determined that the district has no plans to use the land. The council also adopted a policy for city gas pipeline employees concerning the use of prohibited drugs.

Other business addressed by the council included:

—approving miscellaneous claims;

—accepting a bid of $400 from Dale McCarty of Picayune for the removal of two surplus windmills from the grounds of Bay High School;

—opening bids for gas line repair and maintenance materials, asphalt and roof repair materials;

—authorizing advertisement for bids for gas meters and leased equipment;

—and approving donations of $350 to the Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund and $300 to the New Orleans Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Red Ribbon Christmas parade is now being formed and entries are needed.

Libby Roland, chamber executive director, said, this is to be one of the largest Christmas parades ever in this county and we want to give everyone an opportunity to be a part of it.

There are no entry fees. All you have to do is call the chamber at 467-9048 between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. starting Monday.

Marching groups, truck floats, hay riders, maskers, donkey riders, bicycle groups, wagons, surries, buggies, cars, trucks, skaters, bands, musical groups, mule skinner, joggers, aerobic classes, choral groups, choirs and you name it, can participate.

Libby says, come one, come all, no group too large or too small.

The parade will be held on Saturday, December 1, rolling at 11 a.m. sharp.

The parade will form on Blue Meadow Road by the Winn-Dixie Shopping Center, travel Main to the Beach, Beach to Carroll, Carroll to disband at Middle School.

Santa will be riding his favorite mode of transportation in this area, a big red fire truck.

Santa will be visiting with the young boys and girls at the Courthouse following the parade to take their wishes.

Children are asked to bring a toy if they can to help fill the Hancock County Doll & Toy Fund Doll House.

These toys will go to some deserving boys and girls at Christmas.

So Libby and Georgia are awaiting your call at the chamber to participate in the parade.

As many of you are aware, the National Guard Armory has been used over the years by groups and individuals for various functions such as parties, wedding receptions and dances.

Since the National Guard Unit is now on active duty, the facility is still available to the community.

The contact person is Jay Lagasse, 467-7400 after five weekdays and weekends, for further information. Lagasse has been assigned custodian of the National Guard Armory while the local unit is on active duty.

I received a telephone call a couple days ago from a grandmother of a serviceman involved in the Desert Shield deployment.

This grandmother said she has been hearing and reading about the concerns of parents, children, grandchildren, relatives and friends of our servicemen and women, but, no mention has been made about grandparents.

I am sure this is an oversight by many, and I know in addition to grandparents there are even a few great-grandparents of men and women serving our country.

In addition to the Bay St. Louis National Guard Unit which is now on active duty, there are many other men and women of the area who are in the military, and some of them are in the Middle East.

I personally wish each and everyone good luck and a speedy return home.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Thanks for all of our blessings

As we pause this week to meditate on Thanksgiving and what it means to each of us, I would like to express my appreciation to the people of South Mississippi.

Over the last year or so, I have had the chance to work with and learn from legendary statesmen, but I have to say that it is truly the people of South Mississippi who inspire me the most.

Take for instance, Dr. Martha Dow of Petal High School, our Fifth District "Teacher of the Year." Dr. Dow is a good example of the professionalism and quality services provided to the students of the Fifth Congressional district.

Dr. Dow is just one of the many educators who have encouraged Mississippi children to be their best, to strive for higher things and obtain the knowledge and experience that will make them the adults they aspire to be.

One of the greatest things about living in a democracy such as ours is that it encourages people to voice their opinions. For the thousands of people who have taken the time to call or write my office, I want to say thank you for speaking up.

When it comes right down to it, being Congressman is a lot about ideas and values as well as accomplishments. My Washington office alone averages more than 3,000 letters and calls a month. Your input has helped shape my agenda.

When the Army announced late last year that it would close the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant in Hancock County and lay off or displace most of the plants 1,700 workers, people didn't just give up.

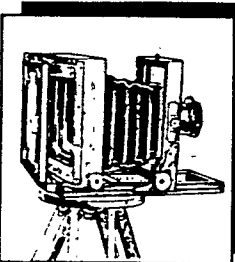

Workers, community leaders, private and state officials joined together to form a privatization task force that is seeking to find a new industry for the plant. I want to thank all of those individuals for having the courage to rebuild in the face of economic disaster.

I would like to commend state workers within the Small Business Administration, the Social Security Office, the Veterans' Administration and the Internal Revenue Service and other offices, who have helped

For the first time in its almost 20 years of existence, Hancock General Hospital will soon open a Critical Care Unit. However, Interim Hospital Administrator Lamar Brooks reported at a Board of Trustees meeting Monday night, the hospital has not yet completely staffed the facility which is tentatively scheduled to open Dec. 7.

The number of Hancock County registered voters increased by 909 during the period June to November, according to a survey released by Mississippi Secretary of State Ed Pittman. The survey shows 16,749 registered voters in November and 15,840 in June.

Also performing will be bandleader Janet Crowe, who held a similar position at Bay High before graduating; Melva Luke, cheerleader and former Bay High basketball star; Irene Thomas of Bay St. Louis, a member of the fabulous Pearl River String of Pearls, said to be one of the area's prettiest precision marching groups; Gary Ladner, Bay St. Louis, and Edna Moran, Kiln, band members.

According to information received from S.W. Stowers, Hancock County agent, approximately 100 Hancock County farmers will receive this week 250,000 pine seedlings to be planted in reforesting cut-over and barren lands under the AAA forestry program. Mr. Stowers stated that this will bring the total of pine seedlings in 1940 by cooperating farmers in Hancock County to over 400,000 for which reforestation work farmers will be paid by the AAA $7.50 for each 1,000 seedlings planted.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Appreciate gift of life on Thanksgiving Day

Dear Editor:

We have an interesting custom among us of setting aside certain days to think about certain things.

Thanksgiving has been set aside as a national holiday in America, and on this day it is customary to be grateful for our bounties and enjoy our family feast together.

Not only do we enjoy such traditional foods as turkey with trimmings and pumpkin pie, but many people set aside time to be together with children, parents, grandparents, uncles, aunts and cousins.

As we enjoy the satisfaction of being with loved ones and partaking of the harvest bounties, let us not forget to thank our Father in heaven for this free land.

If we would make a list of all our important blessings, it should mention friends, health, home, loved ones, opportunities, spiritual benefits, material goods, and those serving us in the Armed Forces.

The members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, together with all the sons and daughters of God, pray for a day when we can all be thankful for life itself.

If we truly make Thanksgiving Day a day of being thankful, let us not forget Him who is a giver of all good things.

R. Daniel Sones,
President
Gulfport Stake

Casino not cause of problems; choice belongs to individual

Dear Editor,

There was a lot wrong with the logic and reasoning of a recent letter to the editor concerning dockside gambling.

The first argument against it was that businesses would be closing because "all of the spending money in a community goes into a casino."

If a hundred casinos opened in this community, we would not spend one of our discretionary dollars in it. The legalization of gambling does not mean that everyone will gamble any more than the legalization of alcohol causes everyone to drink.

A large number of the dollars spent in gambling casinos is from out-of-town. This results in additional revenue to a community, not a loss of revenue. The tax base increases because of the taxation of the gambling establishments. It does not decrease.

To say there will be deaths on the main thoroughfares leading to the casinos because of increased traffic, is a bit like saying there will be deaths on the main thoroughfares to churches because of increased traffic.

The presence of gambling establishments no more increases the possibilities of accidents than the presence of crowded (or even not-so-crowded) churches does.

We have laws, and they are very effective in discouraging people from drinking and driving. A casino will not cause people to be irresponsible any more than a church can cause them to be responsible.

Although we can not think of a place in scripture where gambling is spoken of, we do feel it is against wisdom and prudence to gamble.

However, nowhere in scripture do we find that the world will be without its fools and its imprudent. It is not the duty of God's people to change the world, just ourselves.

Couple goes extra mile to help motorist in distress

To the Editor:

In these times when one hears to many horrible stories, I would like to relate a tale concerning Good Samaritans in our area.

Early Saturday morning I was stranded in a parking lot when my battery refused to function.

After several attempts by a local senior citizen to start my car, another couple saw our predicament and offered assistance.

The couple, who are visiting from Michigan, took the battery out of my car and drove me to the place where I bought a new one and then brought me back to my car and installed it for me!

This goes beyond simple good deeds. A most hearty welcome to Norman and Rose.

Sincerely,

American jobs not the motivation for Iraq actions

Dear Editor,

Are we to believe that we are gearing up to invade Iraq to save American jobs?

That's the latest reason given by Secretary of State James Baker. Presidents Ronald Reagan and George Bush wouldn't even impose restrictions on Japanese imports to save American jobs.

President Reagan's oval office swivel chair was still warm when he jetted off to Japan to collect $4 million from a Japanese trade organization for delivering a 30-minute speech.

Everybody knows that was his reward for keeping trade restrictions off Japanese imports.

It was also a message to President Bush to follow in Ronald Reagan's footsteps and he, too, can drop in on Japan to pick up his $4 million when his term in office is completed.

Now they want our soldiers to die to save jobs? Maybe they're talking about Japanese jobs.

KILLING TIME

By Traci Bonney

Of turkeys and tape players

Happy Turkey Day!
So, what are my friends in Echo-land up to today? (Your ears in turkey and dressing, I'd guess.)

As you read this, I'm in Bay Springs with my family, making leftovers out of a scrumptious meal.

Thanksgiving Day for us this year is slightly different. My parents Mike and Linda, brother Jeff, sister-in-law Jennifer (who is married to Bob, not Jeff), niece Alivia and nephew Stephen are with me, but my youngest brother Bob is spitting out sand in Saudi Arabia and wondering when he can come home.

Bob and Jennifer weren't with us last Thanksgiving either, but that was different. Then they weren't here because Bob didn't have any leave time.

This time, Bob isn't here because some power-hungry dictator decided to disrupt life as we know it.

But, believe it or not, I'm not bitter about the situation. Everything will work out, and Bob will be back home before we can say "Hussein is an idiotic megalomaniac" a million times (at least, I think Bob will be back before then).

Meanwhile, we have a special plan for Thanksgiving, one you might want to try if you have relatives overseas. We're going to tape Bob a letter from home.

Mom said Bob has a small portable radio/cassette player with him (I'm trying to avoid using brand names, so I can't say he has a S--- W----- with him). So, we're going to talk to him via tape.

I have no idea what the tape will sound like when we're finished. I don't know if Mom intends this to be a proper recording session, or if we'll just turn the recorder on and be ourselves.

Personally, I favor the second option. I think Bob will appreciate a recording of the day as it happens much more than he will a quiet, orderly dialogue. "Quiet" and "orderly" don't exactly describe our family get-togethers.

Besides, if we try to make an orderly recording, we may not be able to get Bob's son Stephen to talk. On the other hand, if we just let the recorder run, we'll be sure to catch the munchkin's voice on tape; Stephen isn't what you would call the silent type.

Well, I guess only time and tape will tell what we end up sending Bob.

As you celebrate this Thanksgiving, remember the troops in Saudi and say a prayer for them. While you're at it, you might want to thank God that there isn't a war there now.

After all, this is Thanksgiving.

Confidential to Doc: I forgive you.

Society gives Thanksgiving food to almost 300 needy residents

BY JANET MCQUEEN

The St. Vincent de Paul Society exists to help the underprivileged.

Throughout the year, the volunteer members provide financial assistance with utility bills, food, medical supplies and clothing. Referrals are made to other agencies, including Catholic Social Services, whenever possible. Spiritual needs are ministered to as well.

For Thanksgiving, the society reaches past its membership, into the congregation of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church for donations to fill food baskets.

Some 80 families, with a total of 295 people, were provided with groceries in the "Thanksgiving for the Poor" program, according to society president Earl Salaun.

"This worthwhile endeavor would not have been possible without the donation of 237 bags of groceries and monetary gifts," said Salaun.

The following groups assisted society members in collecting the items: Our Lady of the Gulf CYO and CCD students, St. Rose de Lima Church, Hancock Medical Center, Bay Catholic Elementary School and Our Lady Academy.

"We especially want to thank our parishioners for their generosity," he said.

The food baskets were assembled Sunday at the OLG parish hall by St. Vincent de Paul Society members, OLG-CYO members and friends.

Harry Connick Jr. showcased in PRM stereo simulcast

Crooner, composer, band-leader and piano player Harry Connick Jr. has been heralded as one of the most versatile new pop and jazz artists to have emerged in the past few years.

"Great Performances: Harry Connick Jr. and His Orchestra: Swinging Out with Harry" features the 22-year-old New Orleans native in concert in a stereo simulcast Friday, Nov. 23 at 9 p.m. on Mississippi ETV.

Connick lends his smooth and sophisticated style to an evening of original compositions from his recent albums and such classics as "I Could Write a Book," "A Nightingale Sang in Berkeley Square" and "It Had to Be You."

To take advantage of the stereo simulcast, viewers should tune their televisions to the ETV Network and turn the volume down, then tune their radios to PRM and turn the volume up.

Back Bay of Biloxi to reopen Friday for live-bait shrimping

Bureau of Marine Resource officials announced the Back Bay of Biloxi will reopen to live-bait shrimping 30 minutes before sunrise on Friday.

Back Bay of Biloxi has been closed to live-bait shrimping since sunset Sunday. The bay was closed when weekly sampling showed the number of shrimp available outside the bay exceeded the numbers available inside the bay.

BMR officials regulate the opening of upper bay areas to live-bait shrimping based on criteria adopted by the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks in August.

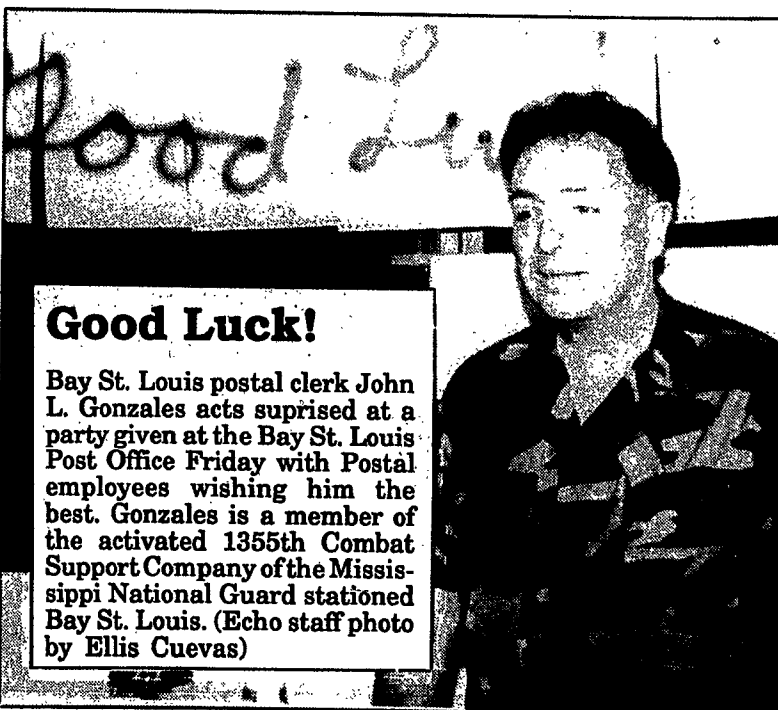

The criteria require weekly shrimp samples to be taken at trawling stations in each bay system with the bays to be opened for live baiting if 50 percent or more of the sampled shrimp number 100 to the pound or larger and greater numbers of shrimp are available inside the bays than outside the bays.

Samples taken in Back Bay on Tuesday showed greater numbers of shrimp within the bay than outside. Tom Van Devender, BMR chief of saltwater fisheries, said the shrimp were probably flushed out of the bay in response to both rainfall and cooler temperatures.

"After more than a week of dry conditions and mild temperatures, the shrimp have moved back into protected bay waters," Van Devender said. "We expect the Bay to remain open until sufficient rainfall occurs and flushes the shrimp back out into the sound."

Live-bait season remains open until Dec. 31.

Red Cross to show earthquake film

Although the chances of a major earthquake affecting Hancock County are slim, the American Red Cross wants residents to be prepared.

Spokesman Joseph Gambino

of Waveland and his wife, Jessica, are traversing the state spreading the message "be prepared."

According to Gambino, an eruption on the New Madrid

Fault, which extends into central Mississippi, is predicted for December 2.

An earthquake in the 1800's along the same fault registered over eight points on the Richter scale, which charts the magnitude of seismic disturbances. It was considered one of the most devastating earthquakes, according to Gambino, and its effects were felt as far south as New Orleans.

"We mainly want people to be aware that some emergency preparations should be made," he said. "Know where all of your shutoffs for gas, electricity, and so on, are."

"Protect your source of water. The hot water tank is a good source of water, make sure it is secured," he said.

An earthquake preparedness film "Getting Ready for the Big One" will be shown Friday, Nov. 23 at 7 p.m. at the Waveland Community Center on Coleman Avenue. The public is encouraged to attend.

Earthquake video available

People wanting information about earthquakes need to look no further than the Hancock County Extension Service office.

The office just received a recently-produced VHS videotape on preparing for an earthquake.

"There's been a lot of interest in earthquake information ever since news reports surfaced a few months ago that an earthquake may occur in early December along the New Madrid fault," said Darlene Underwood, extension home economist.

The 41-minute videotape features five Mississippi State University geology and geography professors discussing the likelihood of an earthquake occurring in the Mid-South, what people need to do if an earthquake occurs, how people should prepare for an earthquake and the need for earthquake insurance.

"Our office has a VHS playback machine and TV monitor," said Darlene Underwood.

"Interested persons can view the tape in the county office or make other viewing arrangements with county personnel."

Election

Taylor questioned Zimmerman and Charles Gottschalk, Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee chairman, as to the responsibilities of the executive committee during an election.

Gottschalk, quoted a Sea Coast Echo article in which state party chairman Ed Cole said, "The executive committees have no by-laws, no formal guidelines, no minimum number of meetings and no official swearing-in ceremonies."

Gottschalk did admit to having the authority to supersede the municipal committee, should a need arise.

Taylor asked if the lack of a full committee necessitated some action on Gottschalk's part. The committee operated with only two members, as one died and two resigned prior to this year's primary.

"It was my opinion that it could be run by two members," answered Gottschalk.

In particular, Taylor questioned ballot and voter registration access.

During testimony by Harris, it was stated that the Tuesday after the election, Harris was at city hall and saw ballot cards (yellow) lying all over Miss Dee's (City Clerk Arcelyn Dastugue's) desk.

Harris believed the ballots to be affidavit ballots.

Zimmerman said they were sample ballots used to program the machines.

During the course of the evening, only one person came forth claiming to have been denied a vote.

David DeBlanc discussed events which occurred between him and Zimmerman that day at the polls.

It was finally agreed that lack of clarity concerning a change of address was the cause of the vote rejection.

"It was most probably my own ignorance," said DeBlanc, acknowledging when voting on Nov. 6, he failed to say he had changed residency within the 30 days prior to the election.

If residency changes occur before the 30 days prior to the election, it is the resident's responsibility to notify the office of voter registration. If residency changes occur within the 30 days prior to the election, the resident may vote by affidavit in the new ward.

Zimmerman said she understood him to have moved sooner than the 30 days. DeBlanc admitted to not having been clear about exactly when the change occurred.

DeBlanc was denied his alderman vote, but his mayoral vote was accepted. He was told he could vote affidavit in his new ward for the next two elections.

"This is (only) one mistake," said Zimmerman. "It could not have determined the alderman race."

Jay Fleuriet, who presented DeBlanc's complaint to the committee, said, "I was notified of this hearing on Friday...If I had time, I assure you there would be enough votes to make a difference."

Mayoral candidate Russell Caldwell joined Fleuriet in saying there were enough people in Ward 2 who were denied their votes to make a difference in the alderman race.

The committee suggested Fleuriet was "going by hearsay and assumption."

Fleuriet questioned the committee as to its validity to even exist (due to its reduced size). "I don't expect another election," he said. "All I am asking is that this community have fair representation."

"You were elected," answered Zimmerman. "You were on the committee."

"I never attended a meeting," said Fleuriet.

Zimmerman explained there was no need for a meeting, for there were no primary elections since 1986.

Following the hearing, Fleuriet said he was satisfied with the evening's results.

"Enough attention has been brought to the committee. The newly-elected committee has already held a meeting, the other night, at the library. That's a step forward."

ON PATROL

KIDNAPPING/RAPE

Chief Investigator Delbert Seay of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department reported the arrests of two Long Beach men in the alleged rape of a 25-year-old Harrison County woman.

Seay said Rodney Dale Allen, 30, 6396 Beatline Rd. Long Beach, and Jeffery Lee Salter, 24, P.O. Box 3 Long Beach, were apprehended Tuesday and charged with kidnapping and rape after reportedly accosting the victim in front of the Brass Anchor around 4 a.m. Sunday and forcing her at gunpoint into a vehicle.

The men have been released from the Hancock County jail on bonds of $10,000 each, Seay added. An initial hearing has been set for Dec. 4.

BAYS Whoppers play in Slidell

Bay Area Youth Soccer's Under-12 Division Burger King Whoppers traveled to Slidell, La., last week, where they participated in the Camellia Cup V Soccer Tournament November 17 and 18.

The Whoppers lost their first game 5-1 to the Baton Rouge Rowdies and the third game 3-2 to the Slidell Eagles. The BAYS team tied the second game 3-3 with the Slidell Bulls.

Goals for the Whoppers were scored by Derek Bradley, Justin Boudouin and Kippy Chamberlain.

Coach Leo Laurent said the team played well in all three games. "However, the second game against the Bulls was full of excitement from the beginning to the final whistle. It was a game of continuous good play by the offense, defense and goalkeepers for both teams."

Laurent commented that the Whoppers' front line — Brandon Everett, Bruce Netto and Chamberlain — and halfbacks Bradley, Boudouin, Philip Ryan and Ben Guy moved the ball well throughout the game, showing good passing and ball control.

The coach also commended the efforts of defense players Jared Holt, Steven Boudreaux, Clint Adam and sweeper Jeffrey Cicerchi, and goalkeepers Guy and Ryan.

Raiders boast 5-1 record

Special to the Echo

The Coast Episcopal Raiders overcame early foul trouble in Jackson Friday night and defeated Rankin 47-39 in their first district game of the season.

The win was the fourth in a row for the Raiders and ran their overall record to 5-1 on the season.

Ranking held a 12-11 first quarter lead, and the game was tied 20-20 at the half. The Raiders led 30-29 after three quarters and built the lead to as much as 14 in the fourth quarter.

"We got in foul trouble early in the first quarter," said Raider Coach Jack Hutchinson. "We've been playing a full court up-tempo style of play this season, and we had to change our way of playing."

"We didn't play with as much intensity as in our other games, but the officiating had a lot to do with that," Hutchinson said.

Against Rankin, Bruce Hull led the way for the Raiders, canning 12 points, followed by Dave Hagan with 11, which included seven in the final period.

Paul Bernadas chipped in 10, with Chris Painter netting nine and grabbing 11 rebounds. Tyrone Jones scored five, with Adam Farragut pitching in two.

Commerce, the City of Bay St. Louis, the City of Waveland, the Bay St. Louis Business Association, the Diamondhead Business and Professional Association and The Sea Coast Echo.

Bay St. Louis Business Association president Ruth Thompson said planning for the event began in July. "This is the third year we've done this, but it's the first year it has been this big. This is the first time it's been a joint venture between the two cities, Diamondhead and the county."

The happenings don't stop when the sun goes down December 1. The Bay St. Louis Little Theater will present "Life With Mother Superior" Friday, Dec. 7 and Saturday, Dec. 8 at 8:15 p.m. at the playhouse on Boardman Avenue.

In addition, the Bay High School Band and choir will present a Christmas concert Wednesday, Dec. 12, 7:30 p.m., at the Bay High Auditorium on Blue Meadow Road.

The festivities continue Saturday, Dec. 8, when the Hancock County Courthouse, Bay St. Louis City Hall and Waveland City Hall turn on decorative lights at 5 p.m.

Hwy. 90.

In addition, residents of Molere Drive and Lafitte Drive in Waveland will have their doors and lawns decorated in keeping with the holiday season in what has become an annual tradition for drive-by visitors. Lights on these two drives will be turned on at dusk.

More events for December 8 include a Red Ribbon Breakfast Buffet from 8 to 10 a.m. at the Olde Towne Restaurant and Coffee Shop on Main Street in Bay St. Louis; a brunch and fashion show at Court Street Cuisine; and an artist's tour from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. throughout the Old Town District of Bay St. Louis.

The Hancock County Historical Society will hold the dedication of the Kate Lobrano House on Cue Street from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 9. Bay St. Louis Edward Favre and State Senator Vic Frankiewicz will assist in the dedication and installation of new Society officers.

Diamondhead will celebrate its twentieth anniversary as a community Thursday, Dec. 20, with "20/20 — A Vision of Diamondhead." Plans include a party starting at 4:30 p.m. at the country club with hors d'oeuvres and drinks, a Christmas tree, and 20-percent-off sales offered by Diamondhead merchants.

Thompson said, "The cooperation between the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, Diamondhead and the county has been phenomenal. It's very heartwarming."

"It's been a wonderful experience to see cooperation of this magnitude. It gives me grand hopes for the Main Street program."

"We're trying very hard to make the Red Ribbon Christmas by the Bay a really nice activity without making it too commercial. We want to encourage people to shop locally, but we want to keep the spirit of the holiday, too."

Thompson estimated that 1,000 to 1,500 people will attend the December 1 happening.

The 500 red ribbons donated by five of the six sponsors are only one feature of the celebration to be held Saturday, Dec. 1. A Red Ribbon Christmas Parade will begin at 11 a.m. at Main Street and Hwy. 90. It will go east on Main to Beach Blvd., south to Carroll Ave., and west to Second Street, where it will disband. More than 30 units are expected to participate in the parade.

Meanwhile, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. young shoppers will be able to select gifts for family and friends (with some help from Santa's elves) at the Santa's Shop in the vestibule of the Courthouse. All merchandise is donated from area stores and is priced at $5 or less. Proceeds from the Shop will go to the Bay St. Louis Business Association's Bay Middle School beautification project.

At the same time, Historical Society members will be at the Kate Lobrano House, Cue St., serving hot chocolate and Christmas cookies, and giftwrapping presents for Old Town shoppers.

Santa will make an appearance on the front lawn of the Courthouse at noon after the Christmas parade. While children are visiting with him, those who want to donate to the Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund can leave toys and dolls at the Doll House near Santa.

Gulf Coast Mental Health expands field of service

Special to the Echo

Twenty years ago the people in Hancock County made a decision to support the establishment of a community mental health-mental retardation center.

Joining with Harrison, Pearl River, and Stone counties, they voted to commit a minimum of one and a half mills of their assessed property tax to help support the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center.

In doing so, they not only insured these much needed services would be available in this area, but they also made it possible for citizens in Hancock County to receive these services on a sliding fee scale.

The sliding fee schedule, which bases fees on family income and other factors, means that no one is denied services because of inability to pay.

In 1969, the four counties formally established a regional commission as the governing body for the community mental health center.

Each county's board of supervisors appoints a mental health-mental retardation commissioner, and these four commissioners constitute a legal discretionary body.

The current Hancock County MHMR commissioner is Mrs. Anita (Neetsie) Lamb. Each of the commissioners has an equal vote and the chairmanship is rotated annually.

The commission in turn hires a center director who is the chief administrator for the program in all four counties. The present director is Jeffrey L. Bennett, M.S.W.

Initially, Hancock County residents had to travel to Gulfport to receive mental health services. The main office, located near Memorial Hospital in Gulfport, is a modern building, especially designed to be a mental health clinic.

As early as 1972, clinical services were provided in Hancock County itself in office space donated by the St. Augustine Seminary. In 1976, a program for seriously developmentally delayed children was opened at what is now the Silver Creek Catfish House on the Kiln-DeLisle road. This program was closed in 1979 when the public schools were charged with the responsibility for the children in this category.

In late 1979, the Hancock Industries program for mentally handicapped adults was opened at the corner of Hwy. 90 and Drinkwater Street. Also at that time the counseling office was moved from the Seminary to the same Drinkwater Street location.

As the demand for services increased, a larger facility was needed and in the summer of 1983 the Hancock County programs were moved to what is often referred to as the "old Jitney Jungle building" on Second Street in downtown Bay St. Louis. This move represented a historic turning point for mental health and mental retardation programs in Hancock County.

The availability of a larger facility enabled Hancock Industries to take on industrial type projects such as making pallets, assembling cable spools, and doing contract packaging for major retailers.

Also during this move, the building was remodeled to include two clinical offices and a waiting room. As a result, the level of clinical services grew from a one-day-a-week to a four-day-per-week operation.

January of 1987 the "Jitney building" was sold to Bay Technical Associates, thus requiring another move, but it all turned out for the best. The Hancock Industries program was moved to an industrial site at Port Bienville with even more growth potential.

Clinical offices were moved to a leased office suite in Shieldsboro Square. This suite includes a waiting/reception area, three clinical offices including a special children's office, and a group therapy-conference room. With the exception of direct medical contacts, all services available in the main office in Gulfport are now also available in Hancock County.

Not only has the population increased significantly, but within that population, a greater percentage of the people are seeking mental health services.

It is now becoming more acceptable to seek mental health services and many people who would not have considered going to a counselor in the past now use these services themselves or bring their children.

The Gulf Coast Mental Health Center is the recipient of United Way Funds in Harrison, South Pearl River and Hancock counties. These funds are particularly important because many of our other sources of funds are specifically earmarked for special purposes such as serving individuals who have been to the state hospital or for drug and alcohol problems.

United Way funds help meet needs not covered by other programs. An example would be the services provided to children who have been sexually abused.

The center's multidisciplinary staff includes specialists trained to work with children, adolescents and adults. In addition to dealing with a wide variety of emotional problems, the center offers marital counseling, family counseling, substance abuse programs, as well as services to persons with the more severe disorders. Information about any of these services is available by calling 467-1881 or 863-1132.

Mark Harshbarger Wears The Same Face At Home He Wears At Work.

If we hired people at Garden Park Community Hospital only for their proficiency in clinical care—how quickly they can give out medication, how easily they can fill out a chart or how skillfully they can bandage a wound, we could hire the same people any hospital does.

But we don't. We hire people for more than that.

We hire them for their proficiency in patient care—how quickly they can drop what they're doing if a patient needs them, how easily they can make a patient feel comfortable or how skillfully they can listen.

And because of that, we get the kind of people you won't find in other hospitals. People like Mark Harshbarger who put their best foot forward regardless of where they are.

State-of-the-art technology? The latest medical procedures? Employees who can recite their clinical care manuals chapter and verse? You can find those at most hospitals, including Garden Park.

Mark Harshbarger? You can find him only at Garden Park.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Thanksgiving Day! A day to stop and count our blessings, a day to gather in celebration with families and friends, a day to turn our thoughts to those who are not with us on this occasion, and to those who have gone before us—and a day for feasting!

And, after the feasting is over, comes the relaxing, at least for awhile, and then the thoughts of how to use up the leftover turkey or pork roast or ham or whatever! For the same group which gathers so happily around the "festive board" on Thanksgiving Day is quite apt to turn up its collective nose at meals of turkey-this-or-that on successive days!

Of course, there's turkey jam-balaya and turkey a la king, as well as turkey hash and turkey salad and so on, but among my favorites is: turkey in that famed sauce of Old Mexico, Turkey Mole (Mo-lay) with its 'chcolaty' spiciness. It originated, we are told, long ago, when the nuns in a convent in Puebla, Mexico, received word that the most exalted archbishop of the church was on his way to the convent.

Scurrying about the convent kitchen and garden, the nuns collected and ground up just about everything in sight—chile peppers, onions, tomatoes, nuts, garlic, various spices—even the last of the chocolate. They tossed the whole business into a pot, simmering awhile.

Meanwhile, the local bishop lost out on a turkey dinner, for the good sisters sacrificed their only bird, meant for this dinner! They cut the turkey into serving pieces, simmered it awhile, then added the sauce, and cooked it tender—and thus was born Mexico's famed national dish, Pavo En Mole Poblano!

Of course, just as with our own sauces, the ingredients change to suit the cook's taste and cupboard, and the degree of "hot" desired, as some like it even hotter, some prefer milder taste. This dish is ideal for using leftover cooked turkey (or chicken) cut into bite-sized pieces and cutting down the cooking time, of course, as in today's recipe.

The recipe is further streamlined by using canned chilies instead of taking on the chore of preparing the chile peppers:

3/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
2/3 cup sugar, divided
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon almond extract
About 12 drops green food coloring

1 1/2 cups (6 oz.) finely ground pistachios
1/2 cup flour
Chocolate Glaze (recipe below)

Lightly grease 9 x 3-inch springform pan. Line bottom with waxed paper and grease bottom again. Set aside.

In large mixing bowl, beat egg whites with cream of tartar at high speed until foamy. Add 1/3 cup of the sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating constantly until sugar is dissolved and whites are glossy and stand in soft peaks.

In small mixing bowl, beat egg yolks at high speed until thick and lemon-colored. Gradually beat in remaining sugar, vanilla, almond extract and food coloring.

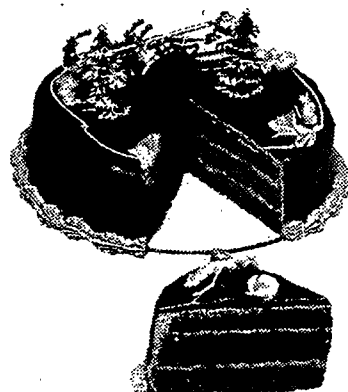

Stir together pistachios and flour. Sprinkle over whites. Add beaten yolk mixture. Gently, but thoroughly, fold yolk mixture and flour mixture into whites. Pour into prepared pan and spread evenly.

Bake in preheated 375° F. oven until top springs back when lightly touched with finger, about 30 minutes. Invert cake in pan on wire rack. Cool completely. With narrow spatula or knife, loosen cake from pan. Place cake onto serving platter and remove rim. Spread Chocolate Glaze over top and sides of cake. Chill until set.

CHOCOLATE GLAZE

6 squares (1 oz. each) semi-sweet chocolate
6 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons honey
1 tablespoon rum

In small bowl, heat chocolate in microwave oven on 100 percent power until soft and melted, about 2 minutes. Stir in butter until melted. Stir in remaining ingredients. Cool until of spreading consistency.

If you're purchasing eggs in quantity for holiday baking, keep in mind that fresh eggs can be kept refrigerated in their cartons for at least 4 to 5 weeks beyond the pack date.

Properly handled and stored eggs rarely "spoil." If you keep them long enough, they are more likely to simply dry up! Storing eggs in the carton in which you purchase them helps keep the eggs from picking up odors and flavors from other foods and helps prevent moisture loss.

Seal honored for MSU contributions

Mississippi State will recognize its leading benefactors in the realm of private support with a new organization named for the university's first president.

The Stephen D. Lee Society will honor supporters who have contributed or committed to give at least $500,000.

The 27 charter members of the society were recognized at the annual Patrons of Excellence banquet on Friday evening, Oct. 26, at the start of MSU's homecoming weekend. Also honored were other major contributors to university fundraising efforts.

The individuals and organizations who make up the initial membership of the society have contributed more than $30 million to the university in recent years.

"Those who provide gifts at this level are a continuing influence on the progress and development of Mississippi State," said Fred Hansen, executive director of the MSU Development Foundation.

Society numbers will be invited to serve on a special presidential council to assist in planning for the long-term development of the university, and will receive commemorative pins and plaques.

Stephen D. Lee served from 1880 to 1899 as the first president of what was then Mississippi A&M College.

Leo Seal Jr. of Bay St. Louis was recognized as one of the society's first members.
